

INSIGHTS

May 2016

Dear Friends:

If you read my last month's newsletter, you probably remember that I told you that this month we would experience a continuation and in fact, an increase of the erratic energy cycle that began last fall (in actuality, it began in 1960). It has now reached a level that just cannot be denied nor ignored. Almost everyone can "feel" it. People are saying, "Something is coming" or "Something is about to happen.....I can feel it in my bones."

I'm here to tell you, it's not about to happen . It's happening now. We are in the midst of a Universal Transition. That means....we are in the midst of WORLD CHANGE. The last Universal Transition of the intensity we are experiencing happened nearly two thousand years ago. I find it interesting that its timing corresponds so closely with the timing of the birth of Jesus the Christ.

As I began telling you in the 1980s, Universal Transition breaks down all of the structures mankind has created with the intention of establishing order and security in the world. Spirit will not condone nor permit the prolonged continuation of disharmony or imbalance. So whatever is not working to improve the quality of our existence here - whatever has become destructive, rather than constructive - must change or end during a Universal Transition cycle.

Now those structures we created to aid us to maintain order, to seek to explore and to enhance the best of us, to ensure safety.....our political structures, our educational structures, our financial structures, our religious structures, our societally defined mores and morals (such as marriage and definitions of "decency") are being challenged. Many are crumbling. Some have become top heavy so that they now function only for those who have achieved power within their ranks and fail to offer much to their original intent. Others have become poisoned with corruption and lust for power and wealth so that they no longer nurture, inspire, educate, or protect as they were originally intended.

As our structures disintegrate before our eyes, people become frightened. They feel the foundations that have stabilized (and often even defined) their lives crumbling beneath their feet. They lose trust. They lose hope. They lose self confidence. They feel betrayed.

Universal Transition "reveals hidden things". So we are inundated with news reports about scandals. Nearly every day we learn of dishonesty or immorality being practiced within those structures that we once believed to be "borne of pure intent"...that we viewed with reverence. Now, we are made aware of the lies, of the immorality and the greed of actions that were taken under the guise of "aiding" people while, in fact, those actions only serve to further corrode foundations and disempower the common man while enriching and further empowering those who hold the power and who orchestrate those actions.

As the people of the world are "seeing" more, and as the structures continue to crumble, fear and a deep, painful sense of betrayal builds. It becomes rage. That fear-filled rage inspires a need to bond with others who experience the same feelings of despair, disempowerment, and betrayal and who hold strongly to the same beliefs.

The disenchanted are forming into solidified groups, each group believing that their Truth is the ONLY....the Complete....the Ultimate TRUTH. Many are actually concluding that any person whose beliefs differ in any way from theirs must be labeled as evil and must be shunned or (in some cases) attacked and destroyed.

By wrapping their minds around their belief constructs, and by condescendingly dismissing any other possibility of Truth, they are effectively dividing and further weakening the life-force energy that flows throughout mankind.

For that life-force energy to reach its full power, we MUST practice compassion and acceptance of each other. We MUST unify and bond together in mutual respect and support. The world is at war and soon to experience extreme events, and our people are embattled with each other.....at least those who have a modicum of awareness are. Most are totally unaware of the state of the world. They're too invested in the latest reality TV drama or celebrity divorce to even care. I feel SO sad for them in the coming days. Yes, the force that is orchestrating the breakdown of our survival systems is using the old "divide and conquer" technique.

When I first began speaking with you about these "coming times", I begged you to watch the WORLD news ...not just the totally propagandized imitation of news most of our American media offers. But, go online and view, or read, news reports from other countries as well. Strive to become as fully informed as possible. I have repeated over and over again that we must live in AWARENESS and be prepared for all things. I've been urging this for the past twenty years as events have fallen into place that have brought us to all that we are now experiencing, and all that we are soon to experience.

I am still amazed and dismayed when people tell me they don't watch the news because they don't want to experience the negativity. (I spoke with a person a few weeks ago who thought that Benghazi was a person!) I am saying that we are living in increasingly dangerous times and that we NEED to be informed and prepared for all that is coming.

The most important thing that we can do....and need to do....is to become aware. Watch the news - ALL of it. Bits and pieces of the REAL situation leak through the wall of politically correct indoctrination. Don't believe that ANY political party or ideology holds the entire Truth. Think of Truth as a sandy beach. Most purveyors of Truth have found a grain of that sand (Truth) and wrapped their minds around it and proclaimed that they have the ONLY Truth. They deny any possibility of the validity of the grain of Truth any other person may have found. If we could all just come together, in Harmony, and share our TRUTHS (after having washed away all of the judgments and interpretations we have muddied it with), we just might find that together we could amass an amazingly beautiful and powerfully profound realization of the Greater Truth.

The second thing we must do is strive to live in Harmony. We need to give up our judgments and condemnations. We can't harmonize and unify (which would bring greater safety and actually COULD change the course the world is on) while we are exuding contempt of each other's beliefs and/or ways of Being.

We need to remind ourselves that every person is doing the best they can do with what they have to work with....emotionally, financially, intellectually, etc. We must cease to judge and condemn. At the same time, we must realize that REAL EVIL does exist in this world. I define evil as having a willingness (or even a compulsion) to speak words or take actions that would harm another living Being. When we witness evil, I believe that we have a Spiritual obligation to confront or at least reveal it.

May through June is going to continue to intensify. When I speak of intensification, I am literally saying that the earth energy is moving at a more rapid pace. This acceleration affects anything electrical or mechanical. So we need to be prepared for chaos and stay as calm as possible while others are rushing around, filled with frantic frustration and exploding over small, or even non-existent issues. This energy also limits the ability to communicate: mail and emails get lost....phones, computers, televisions, radios - anything that has to do with communication - can and will either fail or just act weird. It's not usually necessary to have them repaired. They usually just magically begin to work properly after the intensification eases.

We will continue to experience massive storms, floods, fires, and earthquakes. This energy affects everything. The earth reacts with storms. Animals often behave strangely, and emotionally fragile or chronically rage-filled people can become self destructive or dangerous. All of us will be more sensitive than usual, both physically and emotionally. So experiences that might hurt a bit during ordinary times can feel really painful during this cycle. There are always more terrorist attacks, increased violence in the collective, relationship endings, airplane and auto accidents and volatile disputes over small issues during these intensifications.

It's important to remember that intensification cycles are not necessarily difficult. They only create the violence and turmoil I warn you about because few people understand that it is just more rapidly paced energy and that rapidly paced energy tends to shake people up. They just feel all of their emotions more intensely and so can become easily over-reactive. However, this energy also intensifies the Positive . If we feel joyful, loving, motivated, excited, passionate,any emotion....during an intensification cycle, we will feel it MUCH more intensely than usual. That's why it's so important for us to consciously and intentionally remain In Control of our responses and (most important) our attitudes during such times.

There ARE more accidents and difficult events during these cycles. But we need to continue to live our lives. Also, to quote Edgar Cayce, "Don't run from your destiny". If we have a Soul Level need to experience an event, our lives will urge us to the place where the event is to happen. If we don't have such a need, we will live through times when enormous events are happening, but we won't experience them except through viewing the news.....or by experiencing them through others we know whose lives are altered by those events. We just need to Stay Awareto be prepared for all things.....to strive to live in Harmony with othersto practice Compassion.....to remember that "There is Purpose in ALL Things"to attempt to live in impeccable Integrity.....

Stay Focused on the Light.....
